No.53, A Chain of Help
A little boy shouted: "Help me! Get out of the box!"
I ran to him immediately to help him. He was saved.
If I shouted the same thing, who would help me?
Does the Atman help me like I do the ego?

Is that what you really want to do?
Remember you are the only one through the entire history of the universe. You are the only one, past or future.
Is what you are doing right now what you really want to do?
Why don't you look at your uniqueness and show your full potentiality for the world?

No.57, For My Creation
A paradise bird is flying freely in the vast sky.

A paradise bird and luscious wisteria would come again.
Groningen; 10:47, 23/1/2021

No.58, Birth Moment & Radiance

Almost all of the people know their birthday. Yet, few people know their birth moment. Is a moment of birth the most radiant, isn't it? If so, why do you forget it?

Every moment is our birth moment.

Every moment is the most luminous.

Our life is a string of radiance.

Groningen; 11:05, 23/1/2021

No.59, From the Universe & Harmony with the Universe

Life has evolved, keeping pace of the evolution of the universe.

We may be able to evolve further in harmony with the universe.

However, are we in consonance with the universe?

Our perspective-taking ability is desperately immature. We egotistically think of ourselves every day.

We need a more mature perspective-taking ability as if we see ourselves and the earth from the universe.

Once we obtain the ability, our life would be much more harmonious with the universe.

Groningen; 13:18, 23/1/2021

No.60, Poem as a Universe

The universe of a poem is enormous. We can extract numerous rich meanings from a word, phrase, and sentence in the poem.

One poem is a jewelry box that has a unique universe. We can swim in the cosmic ocean as we wish.

Groningen; 21:09, 23/1/2021

No.61, Poetry, meaning-making, & sense-making

Poetry is interdependent on meaning-making and sense-making.

Making a new poem expands the horizon of my meaning-making and sense-making, which leads to another new poem.

Poetry, meaning-making, and sense-making are close friends with one another.

Groningen; 21:36, 23/1/2021

They are essential constituents of our reality.

Groningen; 07:20, 24/1/2021

No.63, Creation & Nondual State of Consciousness

All inspirational works of art are born from the nondual state of consciousness. It is the fundamental ground of our existence, and it is intrinsically creative. In other words, it is the mother of creation.

All great artists can access nonduality. That's the secret. That's the key.

Groningen; 07:38, 24/1/2021

No.64, A Way of Living of Artists

Groningen; 09:04, 24/1/2021

No.65, Our Society Needs Dynamic System Thinkers.

Our society is both centralised and decentralised. It is oscillating between the two poles.

When the balance is collapsed, the system breaks down.

It is difficult to figure out the optimal balance in a system because it is dynamically changing, but we have to do so in order to keep the system working properly. Our society needs dynamic system thinkers.

Groningen; 16:29, 24/1/2021

Now, the world is crooning a lullaby to me.

Now, I'm crooning a lullaby to the world.

Both are falling into a deep sleep in a little while.

Groningen; 21:26, 24/1/2021

No.71, A Pathway

Music, painting, and poetry manifest themselves through me.

I'm a pathway for them.

I don't create music, painting, and poetry.

But the world does. The universe does.

I'll keep playing the role for them. I'm a pathway.

Groningen; 05:49, 25/1/2021

No.78, Our Life & Poetry

We are living in a vast poetical sea. It is infinitely open.

No.79, A Recondite Question & Possible Answer

What is reality?

Great philosophers have wrestled with this recondite question. There would be many answers.

One of the answers could be that reality is what our subjective awareness and experience identify with.

If so, we can enlarge and transform our reality as we wish.

That's right. All we have to do is to change our awareness and experience.

Groningen; 14:39, 25/1/2021

No.80, Our Watchword

Our ego likes language. Language is its home.

Our ego often makes us distressed.

Ego tricks come from language.

Having a distance from language or doing some non-linguistic activities (e.g., painting, dancing, composing music) might free us from the shackles of our ego.

Our watchword is "beyond language."

Groningen; 17:22, 25/1/2021

No.81, GRONINGEN

Groningen; 17:50, 25/1/2021

No.82, Rumi & Bach

Mevlânâ Celaledin-i Rumi and Johann Sebastian Bach are my saints.

Their works profoundly resonate with my soul.

I'll ingest as much as possible from Rumi and Bach.

One of my roles is to resuscitate their souls through my creation.

Curiosity about how their souls appear in the modern context captures me very much, which is the source of my passion.

Groningen; 19:51, 25/1/2021

No.83, Beyond Both

Am I in a dream or a reality?

Am I drunken or sober?

A borderline is very blur.

Or from the very first, we cannot differentiate a dream and a reality;
we cannot do so drunkenness and soberness.

I'm always in a dream and a reality simultaneously;

---

I'm always drunken and sober at the same time.
Are both incompatible?
If so, I'm always beyond both. I always transcend them.
Groningen; 21:14, 25/1/2021

No.84, Concretisation of Spiritual Sceneries
Poetic language has enormous possibilities.
It can portray not only external sceneries but also internal ones.
Especially, I'm intrigued by depicting spiritual sceneries among internal ones.
Mystical and numinous realms always whisper to me.
I concretise the voices by making poems.
Groningen; 04:29, 26/1/2021

No.85, Smaller is Better than Big
Poetic language can create a world of a story.
A small story like a jewel attracts my interest.
I don't need a large one. I want a small one.
"Smaller is better than big" is true to me.
Groningen; 04:35, 26/1/2021

No.86, Anonymity
As Oscar Wilde said, people start to tell a truth when they wear a mask.
But the truth is still partial because people know that the mask might be breakable.
However unbreakable a mask can be, perfect anonymity would not be realised.
Because all of us have unique name.
Groningen; 07:35, 26/1/2021

No.87, The Spirit & Devils
The spirit dwells in silence.
So, silence is a sanctuary.
But the modern society trespasses on the holy ground with increasing speed.
Devils are coming after the spirit has gone.
Groningen; 08:08, 26/1/2021

No.88, A Creative String
The self creates a poem; a poem creates the self.
This is an interdependent relationship between the self and poetry.
The self continues to create a new poem, which means that the self constantly evolves.
A poem develops the self, enabling it to create another new poem.
A creative string is always in front of us.
Groningen; 09:28, 26/1/2021

No.89, Poetry for Me
Poetry for me is very beneficial to deepen my understandings of the human and the society.
Also, it enables me to wrestle with issues of spirituality and death.
Poetry is a linguistic apparatus to enrich my thoughts and feelings, which leads to a better life.
Groningen; 09:50, 26/1/2021

No.90, Snow & Water

The road is covered slightly with snow today.

The blanket of snow is like a mirror to reflect morning sunlight.

I drank a glass of water.

I was astonished to realise that the water was me.

Yes, it was me.

Groningen; 10:04, 26/1/2021

No.91, A New Language

The self and the society are robustly constructed by language.

Most issues for them derive from an open seam of their language.

We need to sew it up by a new language if we want to solve the present problem.

Groningen; 10:35, 26/1/2021

No.92, A Window & Wind

Language can be a window of the world

in that we can see through language what is going on in the world.

But more precisely, language could be a wind rather than window.

We can go anywhere in the world, riding a wind of language.

A gentle wind blows in the empirical, actual, and real world.

Groningen; 10:47, 26/1/2021

No.93, The First Secret

Feel it.

Surrender to it.

Unite with it.

Groningen; 10:52, 26/1/2021

Face it.

Talk to it.

Embrace it.

Then, be it.

Groningen; 10:54, 26/1/2021

No.95, Chameleon

Language is kaleidoscopic.

It can be anything.

Language is biological, political, psychological, sociological, philosophical, and spiritual.

Da capo.

Music continues.

Fine.

Music ends.

Then, a new piece of music starts again.

Groningen; 13:28, 26/1/2021

No.99, Body, Mind, Soul, Spirit, & Environment

Our body, mind, soul, and spirit are inseparable from the environment.

They are embedded in the environment; they are the environment itself.

The environment is all of those.

Groningen; 13:29, 26/1/2021

No.100, The Importance of Philosophy

Is philosophy useful for us to lead a pragmatic life?

Yes, it could be.

But more importantly, it helps us to live a profound life.

Groningen; 13:35, 26/1/2021
