No.651, Letting Go of I for “I-I”

Taking a bath in the early morning, I was thinking about when I stop using the word “I.”
Probably, I have to use it when I activate the linguistic self, but I want to let it go someday.
If that happens, I’ll finally find and identify with “I-I” which Ramana Maharshi suggested.
Groningen; 07:40, 5/26/2021

No.652, My Driven Soul

Integral Theory, Critical Realism, Meta-Realism, Critical Theory, Transpersonal Economics, and Steiner’s and Marx’s economic and ecological thoughts are key to my study.
Once I rigorously study all of them, I may be able to contribute to this world to some extent based on my dharma.
That is my only hope.
And that drives my soul very much.
Groningen; 22:03, 5/26/2021

No.653, A New Research Project

Transpersonal economics, viz., new economic thoughts based on higher realms of consciousness would be established after thoroughly and comprehensively examining vulnerabilities and pathologies of the current civilization.
I started this research project with some philosophical apparatuses; Integral Theory,
Critical Realism & Meta-Realism, and Critical Theory.

No.654, Cultivating My Inner Eyes

Noticing not only rich experiences and events but also mechanisms and structures that generate those experiences and events is crucial for me.
Whatever I experience, I always try to see the deep realm of the experience.
This practice would cultivate my inner eyes to discover the root problems of the modern civilization.
Fully cultivated inner eyes are prerequisite for transforming our pathological civilization.
Groningen; 06:19, 5/28/2021

No.655, Small is Beautiful

Every one of my creations should be as small as possible, following Schumacher’s

A tranquil moment has come.
Groningen; 06:41, 5/29/2021

No.658, A Transcendental Power

I've recently felt a transcendental power that leads my life toward a new direction.

The origin of the power is unknowable.

But it is palpable.

I just want to surrender myself to the mighty power.

Groningen; 07:16, 5/30/2021

No.659, The Non-Dualistic Mind

Going beyond the dualistic mind and attaining the non-dualistic mind could heal myself.

Actions based on the non-dualistic mind would heal not only myself but also the society and the earth.

Diligent daily practice would actualize it.

Groningen; 08:03, 5/31/2021

No.660, One Infinite Brightness

The beautiful morning sun is welcoming the world.

I'm welcomed, too.

The morning world is shining gently.

Everything has a unique brightness.

Each brightness resonates with each other and creates one infinite brightness.

Groningen; 06:13, 6/1/2021

No.661, Theology of Money and Buddhist Perspectives of Money

Most sufferings of modern people come from their obsession of money.

People tend to regard it as absolute.

But it is essentially relative.

I'm thinking about how I can disabuse people of their misunderstanding of money.

The first step would be to articulate the relativity of money compared with the absolute in religions.

I'll thoroughly study theology of money and Buddhist perspectives of money.

Groningen; 15:53, 6/1/2021

No.662, I'm a New Day

A peaceful morning has come.

A couple of birds are singing a song enjoyably.

I'm the morning sun, the birdsongs, and this peaceful morning.

Also, I'm a new day.

Groningen; 06:12, 6/2/2021

Today was a wonderful day.

I'm just grateful for it.
I pray for it.
Groningen; 07:20, 6/4/2021

No.672, The Theme of My Lifework
My current study focuses on two dimensions of money.
One is the aspect of the absolute or transcendental nature of money.
The other is the aspect of the relative nature of money.
I rigorously study those aspects from the perspectives of theology.

Groningen; 21:32, 6/7/2021

No.673, Beyond Relativeness and Absoluteness

No.674, Theological Semiotics of Money
I just suddenly came up with the term of "Theological Semiotics of Money."
I realized that establishing this field of study is my role.
I plan to apply Pierce's and Wilber's semiotics and theological perspectives to money.

I'm so thrilled to study these aspects of money.
Groningen; 08:31, 6/8/2021

No.675, Epistemological and Ontological Dimensions of Money
Money can be viewed from an infinite number of epistemological lenses that are qualitatively and hierarchically distinct.
Money also can be omnipresent, which has a numerous number of ontologically different qualities and hierarchies.

I'll re-enter the dreamworld to digest the dream.
Groningen; 05:52, 6/10/2021

Groningen; 06:19, 6/12/2021

No.684, A Conundrum

Is humanity the root of all evil in the world?

I can't deny it.

Also, I can't undoubtably reject the possibility that novel technologies transform humans into completely new beings rather than emancipate them.

This issue became one of my central focuses to explore.

Groningen; 21:41, 6/12/2021

Groningen; 21:37, 6/15/2021

No.691, Truth

One of the features of a relative truth could be that it has a contradiction.

Also, such a truth can deepen by its contradiction.

On the other hand, the ultimate truth doesn't have any contradiction.

Because it is always the one.

Groningen; 06:36, 6/16/2021

No.692, A Life Story

Groningen; 21:49, 6/16/2021

Groningen; 05:42, 6/19/2021

No.698, Debunking the Intrinsic Nature of Money

One of my beliefs is that demystification of money is crucial not only for human emancipation but also for protecting this planet.

My role is to debunk the intrinsic nature of money from historical and theological perspectives.

Groningen; 16:51, 6/19/2021

No.699, Awakening

I want to go back to the dream world where I was this morning.
Yet, this world is already a kind of dream.

I may be always in a certain dream.

Because I constantly notice it, I can say that I'm always awake.

Groningen; 06:42, 6/20/2021

No.700, Disenchantment

Modern people tend to seek for a magic to have a dream.

But they don't need it because they are already in a dream world.
